

READING AWARDS.

Every Friday, teachers choose a class 'Reader of the Week'. This is somebody who has set a fantastic example with their reading.

The 'Reader of the Week' might have done a lot of reading in school and at home. They may be someone who has made good progress with their reading or someone who is trying really hard to improve their reading.

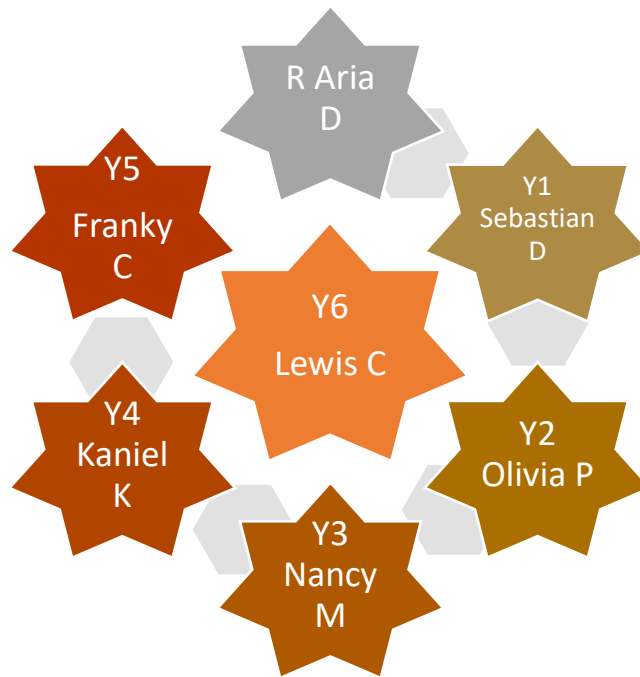

Some children may have read aloud in class with confidence and sometimes they may have enjoyed a book so much that they want to share it with others, to encourage them to read it.

There are many reasons for being chosen as 'Reader of the Week'.
